Seduce Who?

He hadn't expected to come home to hear his favourite music playing and his favourite dinner hot on the table. The kitchen had been a wreck, cleaned up like nothing had ever happened, and remarkably the food was quite good.

That Henkka was sitting beside him at the table was another surprise.

The business talk didn't last more than two minutes. Soon they were sharing stories, laughing, drinking, eventually Henkka admitting to his reasons for the home-made dinner.

Turning he took in his relaxed features, smiling as he made himself comfortable.

He'd have to thank him again in the morning.
